Would you like to have an Italian restaurant in your home, for a night?
You've got it right: a restaurant, not just a chef!

Saor Project is an idea from three Italian friends who come from different backgrounds: kitchen, marketing and design. Their goal is to enable people from Los Angeles to taste an exclusive experience. You can get home and find dinner ready and the table decorated like you would see in a contemporary restaurant. Additionally, you can savor traditional Italian peasant recipes typical of small Italian villages that you would never find in any restaurant in LA.
